To see a world in a grain of sand

A

Mr. Lee has ignored nephews who told him he was foolish to give up his general manager job to put at risk his small modeling business to build sandcastles. Today he has several businesses revolving around sandcastles.

Honesty pays

One year after everything was done, I asked Howard why he chose me. He said: “I saw a hungry person. You need to know what you can do. I can help you. I will help you.”

The National Parks Board thought Mr. Lee’s idea of setting up a center dedicated to building sandcastles was worth supporting, and it gave him $5,000 to get started. He was allocated a plot at East Coast Park and his Castle Beach now proudly sits.

Honesty pays

One year after everything was done, I asked Howard why he chose me. He said: “I saw a hungry person. You need to know what you can do. I can help you. I will help you.”

The National Parks Board thought Mr. Lee’s idea of setting up a center dedicated to building sandcastles was worth supporting, and it gave him $5,000 to get started. He was allocated a plot at East Coast Park and his Castle Beach now proudly sits.

Honesty pays

One year after everything was done, I asked Howard why he chose me. He said: “I saw a hungry person. You need to know what you can do. I can help you. I will help you.”

The National Parks Board thought Mr. Lee’s idea of setting up a center dedicated to building sandcastles was worth supporting, and it gave him $5,000 to get started. He was allocated a plot at East Coast Park and his Castle Beach now proudly sits.