SIM - UNIVERSITY OF STIRLING GRADUATION CEREMONY

28 SEPTEMBER 2022

 SIM

SIM Headquarters,
Singapore

The University of Stirling's Coat of Arms dates back to November 1966 and, following an application to the Lord Lyon, the University gained its University status by Royal Charter on 27 December 1967.

The Coat of Arms may be described as an arched bridge topped by a tower and surrounded by open books. The bridge may represent a governor or magistrate, the tower safety and guardianship, while the open books have clear associations with learning and knowledge. The imagery portrays the University as an official guardian entrusted with the safekeeping of the process of imparting knowledge, while serving the wider community.

On a visual level, the three elements of the Coat of Arms may be interpreted as a reflection of the University's striking location in a historic Scotland, evoking Stirling Bridge, the National Wallace Monument and the University itself.

CONGRATULATIONS FROM THE UNIVERSITY OF STIRLING

Graduation is a special moment when everyone at the University pauses to celebrate the achievements of you, our graduates. Given the disruption caused by the pandemic over the last few years, I am delighted that our in-person graduations have returned to Singapore.

Despite the challenges of the past couple of years, you have succeeded. The reward and recognition you receive today is the result of your hard work and commitment and all of us at Stirling and SIM Global Education share in your pride. We should also acknowledge the contribution made by those who have supported, taught, and guided you through your studies: your parents, families and friends, our staff, and of course your fellow students – all of whom have played a part in the success we are recognising today.

As the newest members of the Stirling alumni family, you now have the opportunity to help shape the world. We will follow your progress with interest and, through our alumni network, we will help you stay in touch with the University and each other.

I very much hope you enjoyed your time studying with the University of Stirling, and that you have made enduring friendships. I am sure the awards you receive today will greatly enhance your chances for future success: congratulations, Class of 2022.

University of Stirling and SIM have provided a platform that challenged me in the best possible way. I saw how I have outgrown myself professionally and personally throughout my journey in UOS-SIM. I owe a plethora of my success and current leadership skills to my university and to everyone who had helped me along the way. Thank you for the valuable and memorable experience that I will carry for a lifetime.

BA (Hons) Events Management*

BE THE DIFFERENCE IN THE WORLD

At the University of Stirling, being the difference is in our DNA – providing education with a purpose and carrying out research that helps to shape society. Our partnership with Singapore Institute of Management Global Education continues to go from strength to strength and is a key part of Stirling's global outlook. At Stirling, our graduates stand out: they are motivated, self-confident, digitally aware, enterprising individuals who are making an impact on the world stage. Our flexible courses, study abroad options and internship opportunities help our students to excel in their chosen careers.

Stirling is a research-intensive university where more than 80% of research is rated either world leading or internationally excellent (REF 2021). Our researchers are truly making a difference by responding to the increasingly complex challenges facing society. By adopting a mission-oriented, collaborative, and interdisciplinary approach, our experts are working to improve the lives of people with dementia, feeding communities through sustainable aquaculture research, and finding creative ways to inspire better health, ageing and wellbeing.

The University of Stirling has twice been awarded the Queen's Anniversary Prize – the UK's highest academic honour – in recognition of its Institute of Aquaculture and its Institute for Social Marketing and Health. These awards highlight our commitment to producing innovative research that has a positive impact on society.

BE THE DIFFERENCE IN THE WORLD

We are an international, globally connected destination of choice for students, research partners and businesses from around the world. At Stirling, our academic and research partnerships allow us to generate and share different perspectives to address key global issues. Our international collaborations enable us to share expertise with our partner institutions – and enhance our efforts to prepare Stirling students for success as global citizens in a fast-moving world.

The City of Stirling and our beautiful 330-acre campus offer our diverse and vibrant student and staff community a unique blend of Scottish tradition and a cosmopolitan feel. Stirling provides a fantastic base to explore one of the world's most vibrant, welcoming, and inspiring countries.

The University is ranked among the top 30 in the UK for overall student satisfaction (National Student Survey 2022) and top 10 in the UK for postgraduate student experience (Postgraduate Taught Experience Survey), and has an overall five-star rating in the QS Stars University Ratings.

The University has recently further enhanced its student experience with the completion of two multi-million-pound projects. Campus Central has created new, digitally connected spaces for socialising and study, as well as shops, cafes, and student support services, at the heart of campus, while the world-class sports facilities have undergone a £20 million transformation. This investment underlines Stirling's long-standing designation as Scotland's University for Sporting Excellence, and its top five UK ranking for high-quality sports facilities. Our students, alumni and staff make a tremendous contribution to Scotland's sporting success, which was reflected at this year's Commonwealth Games where University of Stirling athletes returned with 16 medals.

As University of Stirling alumni, you are now part of our international family: please see our 'Now you are a graduate' page overleaf for further information.

NOW YOU ARE A GRADUATE

Congratulations, Class of 2022 – you are Stirling! You are now a member of the Stirling alumni community.

We are here to help you keep in touch with us, and with one another. You will always be part of the Stirling family, so the good news is that you can start making the most of our vast global network.

Close connections

Our alumni receive the Stirling Minds magazine each year. This will keep you up to date with all of the personal and professional achievements of our alumni, staff and students, and allow you to find out what has changed at the University, since your graduation. To receive an online copy of our magazine, you must opt-in via our 'Keep in Touch' form at stir.ac.uk/21d

We will also be in touch with regular e-newsletters, as well as invitations to special events and reunions. You can maintain your ties with the University through social media, by connecting with us on:

- LinkedIn: University of Stirling Alumni – Official Group
- Facebook: Stirling University Alumni
- Twitter: @StirAlumni
- Instagram: @stiralumni

Career support

Whatever you have planned after graduation, you have lifelong access to the University's Careers and Employability Service. If you need help planning your career, completing job applications, or preparing for interviews and assessments, we are here to help. You can access support in person or through the online e-guidance system, search the online vacancy system TARGETconnect for graduate opportunities. For more information, visit stir.ac.uk/afteryouleave

International

We currently support a global network of more than 100,000 alumni in 178 countries. International networks are a great way to stay in touch with Stirling graduates and access valuable social and professional networks. Please visit stir.ac.uk/1nm to find an alumni ambassador near you.

NOW YOU ARE A GRADUATE

Be an ambassador

You can join our dedicated team of alumni ambassadors, who help coordinate networking and reunion events in countries across the globe. You can give something back, and continue to make a difference, by helping at recruitment fairs or providing a case study or testimonial. If you are interested in becoming an alumni volunteer, get in touch at alumni@stir.ac.uk
